The harvest and the culture of the salt occupies to Aigues-Mortes a site of exception. In the heart of a vast space of the size of Paris dedicated to the salt, an establishment of 1000 m ² opens to the public. Capable of welcoming 300 000 persons a year, it gets organized around 4 experiences : the museum and its infrastructure of reception, the garden of the salt, a walk by small train, a pink walk.
The museum takes takes place in two buildings which belong to the history of the site.

These buildings are connected by a Mediterranean garden, which becomes a space of meeting and departure for the various proposed activities.
The building " the Post ", modernized, becomes a point of welcomeand mark for the visitors.
Keeping its foundations and volumes of origin, it opens very widely on the landscape, offering
